NUMBER 54

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

It was stated in the Gazette the other day that some Washington authories had it that Blaine was the only republican candidate named for the presidency who could be elected without New York. The New York Tribune gives him twenty states not counting its own state, and then makes the electoral vote two more than a majority. The states which it says Blaine can surely carry are as follows:

State.	Votes.	State.	Votes.
California	115	Michigan	115
Colorado	115	Nebraska	115
Connecticut	115	Nevada	115
Indiana	115	Oregon	115
Iowa	115	Pennsylvania	115
Kansas	115	Wisconsin	115
Massachusetts	115	Wyoming	115
Michigan	115	Wisconsin	115

D. M. ALLEN, Chairman.
JOHN A. MARTIN, Secretary.

All the troops in the country were bader for president.

The new convention hall in Chicago will seat 12,000 people. The audience will face north instead of south, as in the convention of 1880.

John Kell, the Tammany leader, now comes out for the old ticket—Tilden and Hendricks. John is peculiar in his devotion to party. The one gets him who sees him last.

The agricultural bureau at Washington has already begun to make its guess on the wheat crop for 1884—350,000,000 bushels. It is about time for the boars to start the report that there is a prospective failure of the wheat crop.

It used to be said, "O that mine enemy might write a book!" But Mr. Blaine's enemies wish that he had written one. Even as bitter an enemy as Roscoe Conkling, read Blaine's splendid notice of the ex-senator from New York, and now he is enthusiastic for the man from Maine.

It would be better for the democrats if the congress had been a three-months session. The longer congress runs, the worse it is for the democrats. They never could control either branch of congress and make a good record.

All the vessels of the Arctic relief expedition are on the sea moving northward. They are from one week to three days apart. It will be months before any favorable news can be learned, as such news is in store at all, and very likely the Greeley party are beyond the reach of help.

General Grinnell's sons, while doing business on Wall street, were conspicuous for one thing—the freedom with which they squandered the money of their relatives. They were as willing to hypothecate the securities of their fathers-in-law, as Artemus Ward was to sacrifice all his wife's relatives to save the union.

The Gazette learns from an eastern paper that a lawyer in New Hampshire has starved to death. This is the first case of the kind ever recorded. Clients have been frequently known to starve to death, but a lawyer, never, except the case just referred to. If he had not been modest, honest, and a stranger, he would have fared well as lawyers generally do. His singular death proves that he had misaken his calling.

Next to a rich man's daughter eloping with her father's coachman, is that of eloping with a professional roller-skater. A case of the latter comes from Rockford. The daughter of a prominent citizen of that city eloped with one James, who is somewhat of a dandy and a professional skater. The father is in pursuit and threatens to shoot the scoundrel if he catches him. It is hoped the skater will be caught, that the promise of the father to shoot will not be broken, and that he will shoot straight.

Ben Butler has a new idea in his head which he thinks will not only make a little boom for him, but will show how generous he is with other people's money. He is now advocating the payment of pensions to everybody who fought in the war of the rebellion, whether they were on the union or confederate side. Butler's great generosity will give him a warm place in the hearts of the ex-confederates who are always clamoring for a big appropriation, but it will fall far short of giving him a presidential boom.

Representative Hewitt has introduced in the house another tariff bill. It cuts more than Morrison's did, and puts scores of articles on the free list. One part of the bill will suit the democratic party very much—it reduces the tax on brandy and whisky. Morrison, being chairman of the ways and means committee, has put the little bill in his pocket and will probably keep it there. There is no use trying to pass a tariff bill this year. The more the question is discussed, the more business will become disturbed. If the democrats really desire some political capital for the fall campaign, let them pass the appropriation bill and go home by the first of June.

The soldier papers are doing a little booting for General Sherman for the republican presidential nomination. We are at a loss to account for this discrimination against General Logan, who ought to rank high with the veterans and is a candidate as well, while Sherman isn't. It may be that the latter fact affords just the explanation needed.—Forod du Lac Commercial.

The difference between General Sherman and General Logan is about the difference between Henry W. Longfellow and Walt Whitman. Sherman is the most popular general in the United States to-day. He has a place in the hearts of the people that General Logan can never occupy, and yet this is no disprangement of Logan. Logan could only carry the states that are stubbornly republican; Sherman would sweep the Pacific states, capture New York, and make a march to the white house that would eclipse his brilliant march to the sea. This is the difference between the two men.

Time of game—Two hours and ten minutes.

KEEPING IT ROLLING.

The Tariff Bill Given Another Start in the National House.

Hewitt Comes to the Front with His Bill—Some of Its Provisions—A Missouri Member's Production.

WASHINGTON City, May 10.—Below is given the full text of the bill introduced in the house by Representative O'Neill of Missouri, proposing to abolish the tariff on all articles of food.

Washington, May 10.—Below is given the full text of the bill introduced in the house by Representative O'Neill of Missouri, proposing to abolish the tariff on all articles of food.

It will be seen that this does not include New Jersey, which will cast nine votes. The state is very close, and was carried in 1880 by Hancock by only 2,000 majority. The Pacific states are put down for Blaine for the reason that he favored the restriction of Chinese immigration. This has made him solid beyond the Rocky mountains, while the other candidates have no special strength there. There is a doubt in the minds of nearly every prominent republican as to whether Blaine can carry New York, but the Tribune thinks that if any republican can carry the state, the next election will be won by Blaine from Maine. The bill introduced by Mr. Hewitt attracts but little attention, probably owing to the fact that there is but a slight probability that the present bill will be considered as the principal bill in view of the bill authorizing the refunding of debts to manufacturers of iron wire and bolting iron, and the duty on iron and steel wire rods used in manufacture, which is much criticized. The greater part of the bill was prepared at the treasury department, and proposes to amend existing laws in a way to simplify the collection of duties without reference to the rates. It proposes to reduce the tax on fruit spirits to 10 cents per gallon, which is the only item of internal taxation embraced in the bill.

THE ANTI-MONOPOLY CONVENTION

What Is Its Probable Action Will Be—Opposition to a Nomination.

CHICAGO, May 13.—Delegates to the national Anti-Monopoly convention are arriving in this city, and indications are that there will be a larger attendance than at the year ago. The railways refused the delegates reduced rates, which is the source of some complaint.

Taliesin, the delegate so far arrived shows that Ben Butler is the unanimous choice for presidential nominee, and for vice president the names are Senator Van Dyke, of Nebraska; Weaver, of Iowa; and Webb, of Michigan; Senator Van Wyck, though placed as a Republican, is claimed as an Anti-Monopolist in principle, and some of his more ardent friends hope to secure for him the honor of the nomination for vice president. It is possible, however, that no nomination for the second place will be made for the present, owing to the hope that Butler may capture the Democratic nomination. The probabilities of Butler's success are being actively canvassed.

The secretary of the treasury has recently authorized and directed to refund to any manufacturer of fence wire or wire fencing the amount of duties which may have been paid upon the imported iron or steel wire rods actually used in the manufacture of such fence wire or fencing after the passage of this act; under such rules and regulations as the secretary of the treasury may see fit to prescribe from time to time in order to prevent fraud on the revenue.

The following articles are proposed to be placed on the free list. Soft coal (except Canadian), until Canadian adjoins us from United States frontier, lumber, timber, posts, logs, trees, staves, barrels, boxes, and packages, tin cans or less per pound—60¢ of 10 cent per pound—and iron in flat sheets the following:

GLADSTONE TAKES THE FLOOR

And Searches the Tories and Defends the Government—Reported Massacres.

LONDON, May 13.—Sir Michael Hicks-Bouch, in the house of commons, moved a vote of censure of the government's Egyptian policy, and declared that an indignant country would punish the infamous despot of Gen. Gordon.

Gladstone, in reply, taunted the opposition with writing no policy, until having ready to criticize it, he had never offered it, or suggested or defining a policy for the crisis which they desired. The Tories, he said, wanted to compel the government to reconquer the Soudan. This the government declined to do. It would not fight with people who are struggling for their freedom. The government may be relied upon to perform its duty to Gordon, and to the country, despite the scoldings of the Tories. It may be necessary to send a British force to the Soudan, but troops will be sent only when it shall become necessary. The government will not be driven into an act involving blood, honor and treasure, without mature consideration. England will not enter into a vast scheme to conquer to please a cardinal opposition. Gladstone's remarks created much enthusiasm and were loudly applauded.

What Is Blaine Doing There?

NATIONAL PARKER, Va., May 13.—Ex-Secretary of State Blaine has arrived here and expects to remain for several days. He is accompanied by his daughter. Much significance is attached to his presence here at this time. Mr. H. C. Parsons, a prominent Straight-out and leading member of the Republican delegation to the Chicago convention, lives here. Mr. Parsons is known to be a strong friend of Blaine, and it is believed that the object of his visit is for the purpose of conferring with Parsons as to the policy to be pursued by the Straight-outs at Chicago.

This is the jobber with air content, Who buys his Corn Planters of A. C. Kent.

I have taken comfort with my Corn Planter since I have been handling Kent's Corn Planters. They always give perfect satisfaction.

This is the dealer with judgement poor, Who says: Anything is good enough for the country boor.

What caused Jack, I am inquire? I sold two boxes of Kent's Triumph corn planters, and half of them gave out, and the farmers who have the rest refuse to pay for them because they are no good. My neighbors bought 10 dozen of Kent's Triumph planters and got 100% satisfaction.

This is the farmer with judgment poor, That always buys some sort of worthless trash.

This is Farmer Thayer, with a practical air. Who always buys goods where dealings are square.

Tell me sir, Kent's Triumph corn planters, They drop a dozen or more of the other kinds. They drop even, cover the corn well and never give out.

If I had bought Kent's Triumph, I should have got my p's for them, instead of having all this mess returned and my trade ruined. I will hereafter buy no planters but A. C. Kent's Triumph.

Send for Sample of Kent's Corn Planter.

The are the best in the market and warranted to give satisfaction.
